

FELIX ROSENQVIST

TAKING A SUSTAINABLE VIEW ON MOTORSPORT

A multiple title winner and frontrunner in every championship he ever contested, Sweden's Felix Rosenqvist is one of the most exciting up-and-coming talents in international motorsport.

The 2013 campaign saw Rosenqvist engulfed in a dramatic two-way scrap for the prestigious FIA Formula 3 European Championship title, eventually finishing second to Ferrari-backed Italian Raffaele Marciello. He also made history by winning the blue-riband Masters of Formula 3 event – Europe's most important F3 race – for a second time.

Felix Rosenqvist is backed by the official Mercedes-Benz young driver development programme. Following his 2013 achievements, he was ranked among the world's top 50 drivers – all categories. Rosenqvist was the only Swede included on the list.

In November 2014, Rosenqvist became the first Swede in 22 years to claim victory in the end-of-season F3 world finale in Macau, China, having also won on the streets of Pau (France) earlier in the year.

- AUTOSPORT, December 2013

"This guy is just brilliant – dead cool, very talented, very confident. I get blown away by how good he is."

- Peter Windsor, F1 Racing & The Racer's Edge

"An absolute talent. He's got the potential to achieve great things and to reach the highest echelons of this sport."

- Damon Hill, 1996 F1 World Champion

Felix Rosenqvist, 22, lives in the city of Värnamo in his native Sweden.

Felix began his career in karting, finishing second in the Nordic Championship in 2005 and competing successfully on the international stage until 2007 when he stepped up into single-seater racing and Asian Formula Renault. After finishing fourth overall and ending his debut season as rookie of the year, Rosenqvist stayed on in the Far East and won 10 out of 15 races to claim the 2008 Formula Asia 2.0 title.

In 2009, he returned to Sweden and won both the North European Zone and Swedish Formula Renault championships. At the end of the year, he did two one-offs – resulting in a SEAT Leon Supercopa podium on his touring car debut in France as well as two victories and a new lap record at the Formula Palmer Audi finale at Snetterton, Great Britain.

2010 saw Rosenqvist make the transition to Formula 3 with an assault on the German championship, winning two races and finishing on the podium eight times before ending the season on a high by coming home ninth on his debut in the prestigious Macau Grand Prix in China.

For 2011, Rosenqvist progressed into Formula 3 Euro Series with German outfit Mücke Motorsport, racking up ten podiums and one win. 2011 also saw Felix become the first Swede ever to win the tradition-steeped Masters of Formula 3 event at Zandvoort – a feat he would later repeat in emphatic fashion in 2013, winning comfortably from pole position and throwing in the fastest lap of the race.

In 2012, Rosenqvist dovetailed a second season of Formula 3 Euro Series racing with an attack on the revived FIA European Formula 3 Championship, in which he finished third overall after winning four out of the final six races.

At the end of the campaign, he once again underlined his status as one of the fastest F3 drivers on the globe by finishing a close second in the Macau Grand Prix, becoming the first Swede in over ten years to take to the podium in the legendary street race.

In 2013, the restructured FIA Formula 3 European Championship gathered all the leading F3 teams and drivers under one umbrella, with Rosenqvist again racing for Mücke Motorsport and finishing second overall with ten wins and 18 podiums from 30 races. He also equalled the record previously held by current F1 star Valtteri Bottas as he claimed an unchallenged second Masters of Formula 3 triumph.

Felix Rosenqvist is part of the Swedish national motor racing team and supported by the Mercedes-Benz young driver development programme.

Rosenqvist currently holds the all-time F3 lap record at Hockenheim, Norisring, Zandvoort, the Red Bull Ring and Valencia's Circuit Ricardo Tormo.

In 2014, Felix Rosenqvist goes all out for the coveted FIA Formula 3 European Championship title.

He played the laconic, hard-racing Scandinavian to Raffaele Marciello's shy, Latin flakiness in the battle for the European F3 title, and only just lost out. Rosenqvist led the Mücke Motorsport challenge and, while on the one hand he benefited from being the Berlin team's only realistic contender at the front, there was the impression that he was fighting a pretty daunting Prema juggernaut. He did it all with good humour, and took a dominant win in the Masters of F3 too at a Zandvoort circuit where he is almost invincible. Fully deserves a crack at the professional levels of the sport.

Rosenqvist på samma lista som Hamilton

Vad har Felix Rosenqvist, 19, gemensamt med David Coulthard och Lewis Hamilton?

Alla tre har vunnit RTL GP Masters i F3.

– En otrolig känsla, och utan tvekan den seger jag värdesätter mest hittills i min karriär, säger Rosenqvist.

Felix Rosenqvist lyckades under söndagen med det som ingen annan svensk tidigare har gjort. Han vann det klassiska stortävlingen i formel 3 på holländska Zandvoort.

Rosenqvist ledde från start till mål och körde över mållinjen drygt fem sekunder före tvåan Marco Wittmann, Tyskland.

F3 Masters: Felix Rosenqvist takes second victory

Felix Rosenqvist claimed a second Masters of Formula 3 victory of his career with a dominant display at Zandvoort.

The Swede converted pole position into the lead of the race aboard his Mücke Motorsport Dallara-Mercedes and had little trouble pulling away from the pack led by Prema driver Alex Lynn.

Rosenqvist, who won the race in 2011, was more than two seconds ahead in the space of four laps and was more than four seconds clear of Lynn when he lost over a second and a half on the 16th lap.

He had to back off when he encountered the medical car on the track and lost more time on the following lap because of excessive pick-up after going off line.

The Mücke driver was able to re-extend his lead and was nearly six seconds ahead of Lynn at the conclusion of the 25-lap race.

Rosenqvist said: "This was the perfect weekend: I was fastest in every session, took pole, the victory and fastest lap."

THE CAREER LADDER: WHAT'S NEXT FOR FELIX?

The above illustration provides a rough picture of the current-day career structure in international motorsport.

To this day, Felix has attained necessary success at each level up to and including Formula 3 / GP3.

The FIA Formula 3 European Championship slots in among the most esteemed series on the junior single-seater ladder; only GP2 and World Series by Renault enjoying superior status. Both categories act as direct stepping-stones to the very top echelons of the sport – including Formula 1.

MEET THE STARS OF TOMORROW - TODAY

The FIA Formula 3 European Championship is one of the world's most competitive junior single-seater series, and the pinnacle of F3 racing.

The 2014 grid is made up of 30 drivers from throughout 17 different countries, pitching some of the fastest youngsters on the globe against each other on 11 weekends of exhilarating racing. A host of prominent car manufacturers – including Mercedes, Volkswagen and Renault – view the FIA Formula 3 European Championship as an ideal proving ground for road-relevant technology, making the race for the title a hotly-contested clash between some of motoring's main actors.

Accentuating its importance for drivers on the road to Formula 1, a wide range of official talent schemes (Red Bull, Ferrari, Lotus and Mercedes to name a few) regularly place their most promising prospects in the FIA Formula 3 European Championship to allow them to hone their skills.

The vast majority of today's F1 greats have passed through the F3 ranks on their way to stardom. The list over previous F3 runners include – but is far from limited to – the likes of Lewis Hamilton, Nico Rosberg, Jenson Button, Kevin Magnussen, Nico Hulkenberg and Sebastian Vettel.

Ayrton Senna, Michael Schumacher, Mika Häkkinen and Ronnie Peterson are others to have enjoyed victorious spells in Formula 3.

The approximate duration of FIA Formula 3 European Championship races is 30 minutes – with all of them being broadcast LIVE on TV and the internet. Several rounds are part of the DTM (www.dtm.de) support package.

COMPETING WITH THE BEST

FELIX VS. THE F1 RUNNERS

Throughout his years in single-seater racing, Felix has gone up against – and beaten – several of the drivers currently making up the 2014 Formula 1 grid.

Two of them, rookie sensations Kevin Magnussen and Daniil Kvyat, shot spectacularly into the F1 limelight thanks to a set of exceptional debuts at the season-opening Australian Grand Prix in March. Magnussen finished second on his arrival onto motorsport's ultimate arena, while Kvyat shocked the establishment as he became the youngest points-scorer in F1 history.
